A close-up photograph of a car's body panel, likely a door or fender, showing a reflection of a building and sky. Two red circles are drawn on the surface: one in the upper right quadrant and one in the lower center. The upper circle highlights a small, light-colored mark, while the lower circle highlights a slightly larger, darker mark. The background is a dark, metallic surface.

A close-up photograph of a silver car's body panel. A blue pen with a textured grip is pointing its tip at a small, faint mark on the paint. The car's surface is highly reflective, showing a distorted reflection of the sky and clouds. A white rectangular box is overlaid on the right side of the image, containing text about the car's model, dates, and age.
