Mr Ivo Martinac is Professor and Chair at the Division of Building Service and Energy Systems, KTH Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm. He serves on a number of national and international committees including as Swedish core member in the REHVA Technology and Research Committee. His main areas of expertise include energy efficiency and energy quality management in the built environment, indoor climate quality and control, high performance building design/operation, as well as resource-efficient community and urban development. He is keenly committed to pursuing the goals of sustainable development in close collaboration between the public and the private sectors.